

ALUMNI AND FRIENDS ASSOCIATION

ACTIVE ALUMNUS

WILLIAM SERRAO

One of the six founding Council members; currently Chairman of Council for Unity, Inc.; an IBM executive responsible for the Americas Media & Entertainment practice for IBM Global Business Services.

DAVAUGHN M. BRYAN

A leader in his CFU Chapter at Christopher Columbus High School (and graduate) in the Bronx; now, a senior at The University of Vermont, and Founder of the first CFU College Chapter at The University of Vermont.

With Council support, many alumni have turned their lives around to become role models for young people seeking alternatives to lives of violence. The Association is a natural extension of Council's experience and philosophy into members' adult lives. It organizes alumni and provides them opportunities to contribute to Council activities – they help young people in Council Chapters through mentoring and organizing community service projects.

One of our most visible and active alumni is New York City Council Member Domenic M. Recchia. Council Member Recchia has worked with the Council to sponsor numerous events – such as a community cleanup in the Bensonhurst neighborhood of Brooklyn, and, organized discussion groups to help parents of young people from different ethnic groups understand one another.
